@Becky: argh is there really no way you cant like just put the forums Inside homebase that would be at least a bit better then not having them at all. also i tried to go on homebase on my computer and it doesnt even fully load. and on my tablet when i downloaded it took me to a blue screen and never loaded. also ive been trying to copy and paste all day all the forums ive ever replied or said anything on and woof its taking long.... what do you mean by rightclick then print then save. most mobiles say tablets or phones dont have mouses so what do you mean

@becky, I do have a question (not sure if it's been asked before)
I myself can not access the new forums, as it would be through HB. I can only get on home base currently through mobile and on a web browser, as the app isn't compatible with any of my devices. So i will not be able to get on HB at all whe the site gets taken down. Is there some way you might be able to make HB accessible through web browser in the future mods? Or at least some sort of form of the new forum so I and others like me who will not be able to get on it can in some way. Please try, I know this place is old and needs to be retired, so maybe make part HB accessible online it wouldn't have to include any of the games or anything too complicated just a simple website.

(May double-post, sorry if it does!)
So- I’ve been reading the SAMB version of this post, and I’m not sure I totally understand some things that are going to happen. So (particularly because the build of Newsfeed seems to be an individual webpage, as opposed to the one now that loads a new webpage each time)
Newsfeed can’t 100% be a separate thing, and that’s totally understandable. But you folks are (confirmed, 10/10 will happen) working on a version that essentially is a “lite” version of the full game that only includes Newsfeed to run on very old PCs/Macs and mobile browsers to release when the Scholastic site gets rebuilt/some other future time? This is what I’ve inferred from the posts both here and there; I don’t want anyone to jump to conclusions.
Thanks again for all, your help, Becky! It’s been really helpful :D

Brrr-cky B : admin

@Sorrel you can ask others to help archive your work until you're able to access it! If you have any specific RPs/stories drop the thread numbers and I'm sure they'll be archived. I know you probably have more than a few, but any ones off the top of your head or you consider "urgent".

@Oncilla The Newsfeed is planned to be available before the forums go read only, we've been rushing to make it work before that deadline so you have something to transition to.

From what I know, the Spirit Animals game and Horizon game will still be around on mobile, if not on web as well.

The tablet issue is....weird. Have you tried with the physical keyboard attached to your surface? How are you able to login?

@Bramble What sort of tablet do you have (is it an apple tablet or android?) and do you know what version of iOS or android it is?

There's no way to put the history of the forums or the forums as they are exactly now inside the game...it's just a completely different system. I really wish we could do something to port everything over, we tried to figure out a way we could do it, but in the end we just weren't able.

The rightclick > print > save as pdf option is for PCs only. On mobile you can just take screenshots or copy/paste.

@Glamour Is this on the web version of the game? Or the app? If it's the app, are you using android or apple? Sounds similar to what Bramble experienced.

@Cookie If you ever play other online games, do you ever have trouble connecting to them? I know internet connection can be a problem. When we do get a standalone Newsfeed version made it will hopefully help you with this.

@Ivy It is both. The forums are going into read-only mode first, on 3/29. Later in the spring/summer, they'll be gone entirely. That's what I don't have an exact date for, which is terrible I know. All I can say about that is to start archiving what you want to save now. You still won't be able to edit or delete posts in the newsfeed. I know editing has a ton of complexities when it comes to moderation and that's why we haven't done it, but I'll find out about deletion. The game is available as an app now for both apple and android, kind of goofy I can't link to those app pages but them's the rules even we admins must follow.

@Paradox The forums will be their own new thing in Home Base, separate from the chat. You'll be able to write text posts like you can here and you'll also be able to create comics. One cool thing I realized today was that in the new update, there's a selfie taking mode. You can use the selfies you've taken as panels in the comic creator. If you dress your avatar up like an OC, you could make comics with your characters in them. Not the same as uploading your own art, but it's a method of showing off OCs visually!

@Lilly Sorry about that, I'm still learning whats happening to which games. I believe that the old 39 Clues games and Tombquest are going away. We did add new 39 Clues games into Home Base though.

@Happeh There won't be stars in the newsfeed, you'll be coming in as a blank slate. You can heart posts you like and favorite/bookmark posts.

@Tiger Just wondering, what devices do you have? I can now confirm that a standalone version of the Newsfeed is possible, and that it is something we'll work on. It will still be connected to the game, so it won't be a website like this, but it will use much less computing power since you won't have to load the entire game just to access the feed. This should really help anyone with older PCs, chromebooks, laptops, slower internet etc. I'm glad to see you'll be able to play :)

And also don't worry about being sad/angry/annoyed. If there are things people are angry about that we do have power over, I need to know so we can do something about it. Like with the standalone newsfeed. Already the things you're asking about are helping me know what feedback to give the developers about it. Again, when it first releases I expect you'll have complaints and there will be things about it you don't like/wish you had. Tell us these things. If it's possible for us to make changes and fix stuff, we will.

I'm not sure how threads work on News Feed, but if they operate with thread codes like the forums do, could it perhaps create a link if you type out the code? For instance, if I wanted to go to /355774, that would become a link and if I clicked on it, it would go there

In addition, is the profile picture you mentioned the same one we have here, or do we get a different icon? Or a photo of our choosing?

How can I save my work on the 39 Clues game if that's being deleted.
Also, the Infinity Ring book series (I always thought unfairly) skipped over half the story in order to make it into the internet game. If that is removed, you're basically removing half the story to that book series. Then the series would be worth pratically nothing.
